Please indicate in which way(s) your experience from this workshop is likely to have a direct impact on the language teaching profession on a local/regional or national level:

Student mobility and accompanying academic recognition are assumed to be necessary prerequisites for an open and dynamic European educational area that will aid European integration and labour market mobility. However, for students to be mobile they should have an access to higher education and the financial resources to enable them to study abroad. The students' and teachers' mobility process is very slow in our country, Armenia is not active in sending and receiving international students and teachers around the world, whereas education exchanges are a crucial juncture in the process of integration of the citizens of the world into the global community. The internationalization of educational programs is the key issue of our university strategy, and the language teachers and students will have an opportunity to get acquainted with the language standards that are in current use in Europe and they are used for developing unified strategies and programs in different universities. The experience gained in the workshop will help us to enhance our achievements in this field. We can organize workshops for our teachers and students for disseminating the results of the ECML module, as well as organize workshop for school teachers of Yerevan and other regions of Armenia. All the documents of our workshops on the topic will be available for our teachers and students at our University Center
